

Nazire Albayrak, MD

Medical School: Acibadem University School of Medicine, Turkey

Email: nazire.albayrak@mountsinai.org

Profile: AP/CP Resident, who chose Mount Sinai as it has the largest and most diverse volume of specimens compared to any other program in the entire Northeast and is a culturally diverse program, which was very important to her decision-making as she is an international graduate. Originally, from Izmir, a port city on the Aegean coast of Turkey. She is an avid traveler, beachgoer and a foodie. Future career wise, she is still exploring her options and enjoying her rotations.

Swati Bhardwaj, MBBS, MD

Medical School: Vardhman Mahavir Medical College & Safdarjung Hospital, New Delhi

Email: swati.bhardwaj@mountsinai.org

Profile: Swati is an AP/CP Resident. Her love for pathology is continuously reinforced during the daily sign outs, autopsies, and grossing where each day is another step forward in exploring the realm of pathology. She loves teaching as much as she loves learning from her peers and seniors. In her spare time, Swati loves to write, cook, put her ideas on canvas using oil colors, and expand her knowledge of ancient Indian scriptures.

Aiswarya Irri, MD, MPH

Medical School: St. George's University School of Medicine

Email: aiswarya.irri@mountsinai.org

Profile: AP/CP resident with an interest in surgical pathology. Originally from central New York, Aiswarya loves to travel and explore, and she is eager to adventure through New York City. She loves to cook/bake, play shuffleboard, and listen to true crime podcasts in her spare time.

Bella Lingjia Liu, MB

Medical School: West China Hospital of Sichuan University, China

Email: lingjia.liu@mountsinai.org

Profile: AP/CP Resident who is still deciding on a subspecialty. She has been living in NYC for 4 years. Her favorite hobbies are playing video games, watching horror movies, hiking and drafting. Lingjia is a foodie and knows many popular Chinese restaurants in NYC.

Joshua Onuiri, MD, PhD

Graduate School: University of Alabama at Birmingham

Medical School: Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai

Email: joshua.onuiri@mountsinai.org

Profile: AP/CP Resident who is currently undecided regarding his future subspecialty. Josh was born and raised in Nigeria before coming to the US for college. Outside of the hospital, he can be found experimenting with banana bread recipes, playing word games, or reading fantasy novels.