

FIND A DOCTOR

Integrated Palliative Medicine Fellowship

MOUNT SINAI GME

Graduate Medical Education

The Mount Sinai School of Medicine Consortium for Graduate Medical Education, consisting of 13 institutions located in New York and New Jersey, sponsors more than 140 residency programs in virtually every specialty of medicine, enrolling in the aggregate more than 2,000 house staff. Consortium educational activities provided to all house staff, regardless of home institution or specialty.

Find Out More

[Mount Sinai House Staff Application Form \[PDF\]](#)

[Integrated Palliative Medicine Fellowship Flyer \[PDF\]](#)

Program Overview

The ~~Hertzberg Palliative Care Institute at Mount Sinai School of Medicine~~ offers a unique palliative medicine fellowship designed to meet the career goals of physicians from a wide range of backgrounds who are interested in a career in academic Palliative Medicine. Originally designed as the first program in the country which integrated training in palliative care and hematology/oncology or geriatrics, the fellowship is now designed for any physician who wants to combine training in a subspecialty of internal medicine (e.g. pulmonary/critical care, cardiology, nephrology) with palliative medicine. The fellowship is also open to applicants from other related disciplines (e.g. physical medicine and rehabilitation, neurology, emergency medicine) who want further training in palliative medicine.

The Integrated Palliative Medicine Fellowship at the Mount Sinai Medical Center is accredited by the Palliative Medicine Review Committee (PMRC) of the American Board of Hospice and Palliative Medicine (ABHPM) as being in compliance with the Voluntary Program Standards for Residency Education in Palliative Medicine. The first round of applications for accreditation under the Accreditation Council of Graduate Medical Education (ACGME) is expected to open in the spring of 2008 and Mount Sinai will be applying for accreditation at that time.

More than traditional clinical fellowships, our integrated fellowships are uniquely designed for individuals who want to be positioned as national leaders in the rapidly growing field of palliative medicine. The program is open to individuals who show academic potential and intend to become successful academic leaders.

Program Highlights

Comprehensive curriculum encompassing patient care, bioethics, instructional design, clinical research, outcome measurement, leadership skills, and hospital-based palliative care program development

One-on-one mentoring from nationally recognized leaders in the field
Options for additional years of support to pursue an original, mentored research project

Flexibility to accommodate individual professional interests
Board-eligibility for certification in Palliative Medicine

QUICKLINKS

Program Contact

Talk to us: (212) 241-1446

or send us an e-mail

FIND OUT MORE

Integrated Palliative Medicine Fellowship Program Site

Find out more about this Educational Program

More

FIND A DOCTOR

Print Page

E-mail Page