

Levy Library FIND IT

From Database Search to Article

Levy Library's FIND IT button is an OpenURL service that provides seamless linking from many of the library's databases to:

1. Our full-text collections of e-journals — and often directly to the journal article.
2. The Levy Library Catalog — to find print journal holdings.
3. ILLiad, the library's online interlibrary loan system — to request items we do not have.

FIND IT is available in the following databases:

CINAHL, Google Scholar, PsycINFO, Proquest Direct, PubMed, RefWorks, Social Work Abstracts, Web of Science, and WorldCat.

Search these databases as usual. Then click the FIND IT button for an article that you want to read.

Using the FIND IT Button

When you click on the FIND IT button, a new window opens connecting you to three possible methods for finding the article.

Method 1: Full-text Online

When the article is available online, you will see Content is available via the following links and links to the Article level and/or the Journal level.

- Article: This link will take you directly to the full-text of the article.
- Journal: If an Article link is not available, use a Journal link to take you to the online journal. Then search or browse for the article you want.
- Resource: Links under this heading are to the full-text provider of the online journal.
- Search Criteria: The FIND IT window displays the article citation near the top.

Submit InterLibrary Loan Request

If there are no online holdings found for the journal, there may be a print copy in the library.

Method 2: Levy Library Catalog

Search Levy Library's catalog to see if we have the journal in print.

- Title or ISSN: When you click either Title or ISSN, you will search automatically for print journal holdings using the online catalog.
- If the journal title is found, check the full-catalog record to see if the library has the issue that you need.

Method 3: Submit InterLibrary Loan Request

If you do not find the journal in print or online, you may use ILLiad, our interlibrary loan service, to request the article.

- Request: Click the ILLiad Request link, to automatically complete your interlibrary loan request form with the information from the article citation. To submit the request, you will need to enter your ILLiad user name and password.
- Register for ILLiad: If you do not have an ILLiad password, click on Register for ILLiad. Complete the form and create your ILLiad password. Then complete your interlibrary loan request. Read more about ILLiad here:
