Faculty Disclosure

It is the policy of Mount Sinai School of Medicine to ensure objectivity, balance, independence, transparency, and scientific rigor in all CME-sponsored educational activities.

All faculty participating in the planning or implementation of a sponsored activity are expected to disclose to the audience any relevant financial relationships and to assist in resolving any conflict of interest that may arise from the relationship.

Presenters must also make a meaningful disclosure to the audience of their discussions of unlabeled or unapproved drugs or devices. This information will be available as part of the course material.

Registration

Program Goals

The Mount Sinai Inflammatory Bowel Disease Consultant's Course will provide an in-depth review of state of the art diagnostic methods, medical and surgical therapeutic approaches, and cancer screening and prevention strategies in IBD. Course faculty will lend their expertise to each of the areas that will be highlighted at the symposium. Audience interaction and participation is strongly encouraged and there will be many opportunities for case discussions and has been a highlight of our prior courses.

Program Objectives

At the conclusion of the conference, participants will be able to:

- Manage patients with mild to severe IBD
- Diagnose and treat complications of IBD care
- Recognize appropriate screening and surveillance techniques for cancer in IBD
- Manage pregnant IBD patients

Who Should Attend

Gastroenterologists, Colorectal Surgeons, Primary Care Physicians, and other healthcare professionals caring for patients with IBD or colorectal cancer.

Accreditation Statement

The Mount Sinai School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.
