

Alex Tse, MD

Resident (PGY4), Surgery
Mount Sinai South Nassau

Service to patients and/or families; Service to their peers: "Dr. Tse consistently provides excellent care to the patients he takes care of and their families, going out of his way and above and beyond to ensure his patients are provided with the best care possible. He is also an excellent leader in our program, always happy to assist and educate and more junior residents." "He is patient and caring with his patients as well, taking the time to listen to their concerns and answer any questions they may have. Lately, while covering for his team I have had several patients requesting him personally as their trusted go-to physician over even some attendings. Dr. Tse is an incredible asset to the medical community and a great example of what it means to be a dedicated and knowledgeable medical professional." "I am so thankful to have him as a mentor; his academic acumen, surgical skills and fun, loving nature has transformed my acclimation to surgery into a memorable, rewarding and fantastic experience." "His enthusiasm and positive attitude make the days much better and improve the wellness of our program."

Ann Wang, MD

Fellow (PGY6), Pulmonary Disease and Critical Care Medicine
Mount Sinai Hospital

Service to their peers: "Ann goes above and beyond to support her program and her co-fellows! She is essential at keeping her program afloat, from organizing our lectures to helping stand in for her cofellows when certain shifts need to be filled. She picks up extra shifts regularly, including nights and weekends, to allow her co-fellows to have holidays off. She even worked the weekend before her board exam!" "She clearly prioritizes our wellbeing as fellows and the improvement of the program. She is always available to help in any challenging situation. She has also worked to expedite various logistical issues within our department, including streamlining Epic orders for our bronchoscopy rotation. She is a skilled, selfless, highly dedicated clinician."
